5 lines recruiters skip on Indian CVs

Fix them before you send a single application this Diwali season.

CV PRIME

Swipe →

“Seeking a challenging role in a reputed organisation”

✕ Skipped

Tells a recruiter nothing they can shortlist on.

✓ Gets read

Backend developer, 3 yrs. Cut API latency 40% on a 1M-user app. Looking for fintech roles in Bengaluru.

Illustrative example

“Responsible for handling client queries”

✕ Skipped

A duty, not a result. Every applicant for the role did the same job.

✓ Gets read

Resolved 45+ client tickets a week and cut average response time from 24 hours to 6.

Illustrative example

“Proficient in MS Office”

✕ Skipped

Too vague to match the skills in a job description.

✓ Gets read

Excel: Power Query, pivot tables, XLOOKUP. Built the weekly sales MIS used by 4 regional heads.

Illustrative example

“Hardworking team player and quick learner”

✕ Skipped

Every CV says it, so it proves nothing.

✓ Gets read

Learned React in 3 weeks to ship the internal leave dashboard now used by 120 staff.

Illustrative example

Father’s name · DOB · marital status · “I hereby declare…”

✕ Skipped

Uses up space a private-sector recruiter won’t read. Keep it only if the application asks for it (some government roles do).

✓ Gets read

Delete it, and use the space for one more result.

Fix all 5 in minutes.

CV Prime flags weak lines and rewrites them into quantified bullets that match the job description.

Try it free → cv-prime.in

CV PRIME

Link in the first comment